

Who are we?

The Masaryk university University Centre Telč provides study and education opportunities within the Masaryk University faculties in the Vysočina region. It offers study and education courses as a part of lifelong learning programs and reflects educational needs of the region. There are seminars, conferences and summer education courses held in the Centre. The learning centre is located outside the South Morava borders. Surroundings are very attractive: the historical heart of the town Telč is lined by picturesque storeyed houses with renaissance frontages and arcades. Since 1992, the town has been listed in the UNESCO register of the world cultural and natural heritage.

Thanks to extensive reconstruction, the modern integrated facility has been established in Telč, providing a very good level of education and study programmes under the patronage of the Masaryk University. Accommodation facilities as well as a library and an information point are included in the centre. The lecture rooms are equipped with modern audio-visual and computer equipment. There is also a café on the ground floor.

The university centre is an ideal place for realizing study courses (especially the combined study programmes) as well as other different educational and social-cultural events such as seminars, conferences, trainings, off-site meetings, team-building sessions, summer/winter schools, etc. The facilities can be used not only by the Masaryk University members, but also by private companies for their presentation purposes and company stays, or just for individual or group events, tailored to the needs of wide variety of interested people.
